

Social Dimensions of Health Institute WEBINAR

hosted by Damien Williams, School of Medicine, University of St Andrews

Wednesday 18th December 2013

10am (GMT)

9pm (AEDT)

led by

Cate Buchanan

Director

Surviving Gun Violence Project

and responded to by

Thilo Kroll

SDHI

Book discussion: Gun Violence, Disability and Recovery

If you would like to join this webinar
please contact:

Fred Comerford (fac1@st-andrews.ac.uk) or Rosanne Bell (r.c.bell@dundee.ac.uk)

(Please book early as spaces are limited)

www.sdhi.ac.uk

Follow us on twitter at #sdhiresearch

Social Dimensions of Health Institute

For the past 20 years Cate Buchanan has been working on violence reduction, gun control, victims' rights and gender justice. Cate is also a Managing Partner of Athena Consortium, working in the area of gender in peace processes. For more on the Project visit: www.survivinggunviolence.org and www.facebook.com/sqvproject

During this webinar, Cate will provide an overview of the book, "Gun Violence, Disability and Recovery"

The book includes:

- ◆ A foreword by José Ramos-Horta, Nobel Peace Prize Laureate (1996), President of Timor-Leste (2007–12) and current Special Representative of the UN Secretary-General for Guinea-Bissau. Ramos-Horta is himself a survivor of gun violence, the target of an assassination attempt in 2008.

Gun Violence,
Disability and Recovery

Cate Buchanan, Editor

- ◆ Stories and reflections from over 35 survivors of gun violence from countries including Albania, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, Guyana, Haiti, India, Jamaica, Norway, Somalia, South Africa, Sudan, Uganda and the USA.
- ◆ Contributions from some 45 practitioners and professionals including physiotherapists, trauma surgeons, disability rights activists, nurses, gender specialists, violence reduction practitioners, aid workers, lawyers, victims' rights advocates, psychologists, sociologists, social workers, criminologists, economists, social protection experts, and community workers.
- ◆ Peer reviews from over 65 individuals from a variety of disciplines, including survivors of gun violence.
- ◆ Endorsements from over 20 eminent individuals, experts and survivors of gun violence. Selected endorsements for the book can be found on the SDHI website <http://sdhi.wordpress.com/events/forthcoming-events/webinars/>