

A shared Knowledge Hub working together to tackle homelessness and poverty in Dundee

Researchers

Dr Fernando Fernandes, Social Dimensions of Health Institute, Universities of Dundee & St Andrews

Main objective

Create a knowledge exchange hub that will maximise opportunities for knowledge sharing to produce locally generated, empirically evaluated support services for people who are threatened by or living in homelessness in the city of Dundee

Complementary objectives

- Develop a framework to facilitate joint working between local agencies and organisations working with homelessness, service users, and university students and researchers;
- Develop innovative participatory action research projects to inform service development in relation to homelessness;
- Inform a future generation of academic researchers in the broad area of inequalities;
- Pilot a knowledge exchange mechanism that can address any spectrum of social issues across communities and to reduce the gap between academia, service providers and service users;

Funding

This project has been funded by Revealing Research
